

FULL TEXT OF NOTE TO GERMANY

Washington, June 11.—The full text of the note sent to the German government by the state department is as follows:

The Secretary of State Ad Interim to the American Ambassador at Berlin.

Washington, June 9, 1915.

You are instructed to deliver to the Minister of Foreign Affairs:

In compliance with your Excellency's request, I did not fail to transmit to my government, immediately upon the receipt of your note of May 27, in reply to my note of May 15, and your supplementary note of June 1, setting forth the conclusions so far as reached by the Imperial German Government concerning the attacks on the American steamers Cushing and Galveston. I am now instructed by my government to communicate the following in reply:

The government of the United States notes with gratification the full recognition by the Imperial German Government, in discussing the cases of the Cushing and the Galveston, of the principle of the freedom of all parts of the open sea to neutral ships and the frank willingness of the Imperial German Government to acknowledge and meet its liability where the fact of attack upon neutral ships, "which have not been guilty of any hostile act," by German aircraft or vessels of war is satisfactorily established; and the government of the United States will, in due course, lay before the Imperial German Government, as it requests, full information concerning the attack on the steamer Cushing.

The Case of the Falaba Discussed.

With regard to the sinking of the steamer Falaba, by which an American citizen lost his life, the government of the United States is surprised to find the Imperial German Government contending that an effort of a merchantman to escape capture and secure assistance alters the obligation of the officer seeking to make the capture in respect of the safety of the lives of those on board the merchantman, although the vessel had ceased her attempt to escape when torpedoed.

There are not new circumstances. They have been in the minds of statesmen and of international jurists throughout the development of naval warfare, and the government of the United States does not understand that they have ever been held to alter the principles of humanity upon which this war is waged.

Nothing but actual forcible resistance or continued efforts to escape by flight when ordered to stop for the purpose of visit on the part of the merchantman has ever been held to forfeit the lives of her passengers or crew. The government of the United States, however, does not understand that the Imperial German Government is seeking in this case to relieve itself of liability, but only intends to set forth the circumstances which led the commander of the submarine to allow himself to be hurried into the course which he took.

Declares the Lusitania Was Not Armed.

Your Excellency's note, in discussing the loss of American lives resulting from the sinking of the steamship Lusitania, adverts at some length to certain information which the Imperial German Government has received with regard to the character and outfit of that vessel, and your Excellency expresses the fear that this information may not have been brought to the attention of the government of the United States.

It is stated in the note that the Lusitania was undoubtedly equipped with masked guns, supplied with trained gunners and special ammunition, transporting troops from Canada, carrying a cargo not permitted under the laws of the United States to a vessel also carrying passengers, and serving, in virtual effect, as an auxiliary to the naval forces of Great Britain. Fortunately these are matters concerning which the government of the United States is in a position to give the Imperial German Government official information.

Of the facts alleged in your Excellency's note, if true, the Government of the United States would have been bound to take official cognizance in performing its recognized duty as a neutral power and in enforcing its national laws.

United States Enforced the Statutes.

It was its duty to see to it that the Lusitania was not armed for offensive action, that she was not serving as a transport; that she did not carry a cargo prohibited by the statutes of the United States, and that, in fact she was a naval vessel of Great Britain, she should not receive clearance as a merchantman, and it performed that duty and enforced its statutes with scrupulous vigilance through its regularly constituted officials.

It is able therefore to assure the Imperial German Government that it has been misinformed. If the Imperial German Government should deem itself to be in possession of convincing evidence that the officials of the government of the United States did not perform these duties with thoroughness, the Government of the United States sincerely hopes that it will submit that evidence for consideration.

Whatever may be the intentions of the Imperial German Government regarding the carriage of contraband of war on board the Lusitania or regarding the explosion of that material by the torpedo, it need only be said that, in the view of this Government, these contentions are irrelevant to the question of the legality of the methods used by the German naval authorities in sinking the vessel.

But the sinking of passenger ships involves principles of humanity which throw into the background any special circumstances of detail that may be thought to affect the cases, principles which lift it, as the Imperial German Government will not doubt be quick to recognize and acknowledge, out of the class of ordinary subjects of diplomatic discussion or of international controversy.

Whatever be the other facts regarding the Lusitania, the principal fact is that a great steamer, primarily and chiefly a conveyance for passengers, and carrying more than a thousand souls who had no part or lot in the conduct of the war, was torpedoed and sunk without so much as a challenge or warning, and that men, women and children were sent to their death in circumstances unparalleled in modern warfare.

The fact that more than one hundred American citizens were among those who perished made it the duty of the Government of the United States to speak of these things, and once more, with solemn emphasis, to call the attention of the Imperial German Government to the grave responsibilities which the Government of the United States conceives that it has incurred in this tragic occurrence, and to the indisputable principle upon which that responsibility rests.

The Government of the United States is contending for something much greater than mere rights of property or privileges of commerce. It is contending for nothing less than the sacredness of the rights of humanity, which every government honors itself in respecting and which no Government is justified in resigning on behalf of those under its care and authority.

Actual Resistance the Only Justification.

Only her actual resistance to capture or refusal to stop when ordered to do so for the purpose of visit could have afforded the commander of the submarine any justification for so much as putting the lives of those on board the ship in jeopardy.

This principle the government of the United States understands is the explicit instructions, issued on August 3, 1914, by the Imperial German Admiralty to its commanders at sea to have recognized and embodied, as do the naval codes of all other nations, and upon it every traveler and seaman has a right to depend. It is upon this principle the United States well as upon the law founded upon this principle that the United States must stand.

The government of the United States is happy to observe that your Excellency's note closes with the intimation that the Imperial German Government is willing, now as before, to accept the good offices of the United States in an attempt to come to an understanding with the government of Great Britain by which the character and conditions of the war upon the sea may be changed. The government of the United States would consider it a privilege thus to serve its friends and the world.

It stands ready at any time to convey to either government any intimations or suggestions the other may be willing to have it convey and cordially invites the Imperial German Government to make use of its services in this way at its convenience. The whole world is concerned in anything that may bring about even a partial accommodation of interest or in any way mitigate the terrors of the present distressing conflict.

Wishes German Humanity Vindicated.

In the meantime whatever arrangement may happily be made between the parties to the war, and whatever may be the opinion of the Imperial German Government have been the provocation or the circumstantial justification for the past acts of its commanders at sea, the government of the United States confidently looks to see the justice and humanity of the government of Germany vindicated in all cases where Americans have been wronged or their rights as neutrals invaded.

The government of the United States therefore very earnestly and very solemnly renews the representations of its note transmitted to the Imperial German Government on the 15th of May and relies in these representations on the principles of humanity, the universally recognized understanding of international law and the ancient friendship of the German nation.

The government of the United States cannot admit that the proclamation of a war zone, from which neutral ships have been warned to keep away, may be made to operate in any degree an abbreviation of the rights of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nations.

It does not understand the Imperial German Government to question those rights. It understands it also to accept the principle beyond question the principle that the lives of non-combatants cannot lawfully nor rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of a non-resisting merchantman, and to recognize the obligation to take sufficient precaution to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact of belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag.

The government of the United States therefore deems it reasonable to expect that the Imperial German Government will take the measures necessary to put these principles into practice in respect of the safeguarding of American lives and American ships, and asks for assurances that this will be done.

ROBERT LANSING,

Secretary of State ad Interim.

JURY FINDS VAN AKEN GUILTY

Defendant Receives Verdict That Means Death Without Showing Emotion or Interest—Motion to Set Verdict Aside to be Argued Next Friday.

So far as outward appearance went Edwin Van Aken was the most unconcerned man in the court room on Thursday night when the jury that for a week had been listening to the evidence on the charge that he murdered his wife in Port Even last October came into court and rendered a verdict of murder in the first degree—a verdict that means, if it stands, death in the electric chair.

The jury had gone out at 5 o'clock and had been given its supper at The Stuyvesant at the usual hour, returning to its deliberations shortly after 7 o'clock. Precisely at 10 o'clock the announcement came that an agreement had been reached and three minutes later the court room was filled. In another minute Judge Jenkins had arrived and ordered the jury and the defendant brought in. There was a slight further delay caused by waiting for the arrival of Van Aken's counsel and it was at 10:13 that the jury was called on to render its verdict. At the request of Mr. Brinnier the jury was polled and each member announced his verdict.

Mr. Brinnier stated that he desired to make a motion later in reference to the jury and the conduct of the same while in charge of the officers and would like time to prepare affidavits in connection therewith, and that he would also make a motion to set aside the verdict on the ground of lack of evidence, on the exceptions in the case, the charge of the court and the conduct of the trial.

After some discussion between Mr. Brinnier and Assistant District Attorney Traver an order was agreed on that this motion is to be made on Friday of next week, copies of all papers to be served on the district attorney on Wednesday, and that a stay of sentence should be granted until the hearing and determination of this motion.

The entire proceedings were ended at 10:18 and court took a recess until this morning.

VILLA'S REPLY BEING REWRITTEN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

El Paso, Texas, June 11.—General Francisco Villa's reply to President Wilson's Mexican note of warning, which was to have been delivered to Special Agent Caruthers on Thursday, has been delayed on account of conditions in the verbiage considered necessary by Secretary Bryan's resignation from the cabinet.

General Villa's original message although friendly in tone, was regarded by some as "radical" in principle and was intended to impress the U. S. government with the "dignity, liberty and sovereignty of the convention government in Mexico," of which Villa is the executive.

However, since the resignation of Mr. Bryan, who was looked upon as the intimate and protecting friend of the Mexican power, it was deemed advisable by General Villa's foreign minister, to rewrite the reply into more conservative language and strike out the more belligerent paragraphs.

It is expected that General Villa's reply will be on its way to Washington by tomorrow night. His action in rewriting the reply is regarded by many as an indication of the belief on the part of Villa and his advisers that the retirement of Mr. Bryan means a change in the "watchful waiting" policy of the United States.

CHICAGO STOCK YARDS CLOSED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Cincinnati, O., June 11.—The Union Stock Yards here were closed today by a new order of quarantine from the government bureau of animal industry at Washington on account of the foot and mouth disease.

It was issued on the report at Baltimore that a shipment of hogs sent from this city on June 7th had been found infected.

Under the orders given, all shipping and receiving of cattle ended at the yards last midnight.

A general cleaning up was commenced and at the same time there was inspection of the animals on hand.

MISS OUGHELTREE HAS RESIGNED

The resignation of Miss Cornelia Ougheltree as county agent was received with regret on Thursday evening at the special meeting of the Ulster county branch of the State Charities Aid Association held to take action on the resignation. Miss Gertrude Bruyn, daughter of Mrs. James V. Bruyn of No. 167 Main street, was selected as Miss Ougheltree's successor.

Miss Ougheltree assumed the duties of county agent in January, 1914, and her resignation is due to ill health, her physician advising her to take at least a six months' vacation. The new county agent, Miss Bruyn, is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College and during the past winter has taken a special course in charity work at the School of Philanthropy in New York city.

Admiral Higginson on behalf of the association has issued the following statement:

In losing the services of Miss Ougheltree as county agent, on account of ill health, the Ulster county branch of the State Charities Aid Association is deprived of a most efficient and zealous worker who gave to her labor unstinted energy combined with a tact and efficiency which made her work of great value. It is the earnest wish of the society that the health which she has impaired in rescuing little children may soon be restored to her and in her retirement she carries with her the warm affection and deepest respect of those who have been associated with her in her good work.

FRANCIS J. HIGGINSON, President.

BRYAN PREPARING THIRD STATEMENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, June 11.—Former Secretary of State William J. Bryan today was at work on his third statement concerning his break with President Wilson and his propaganda for universal peace.

This statement, which he will issue tonight, will be addressed to the "German Americans" and the former premier says he will rest his case on it and on other two statements he has issued.

"Of course," he added, "I shall always be ready to talk when the occasion arises and I think it necessary."

Bryan's second statement, issued with the text of President Wilson's rejoinder to the German government's Lusitania note, came as a surprise to official Washington and caused almost as much amazement as his original pronouncement giving his reasons for his withdrawal from the cabinet.

Death to Counterfeiter.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chihuahua City, Mex., June 11.—George Marx, the American citizen who was convicted in Juarez of passing counterfeit money and sentenced to death, arrived here today lodged in a squad of soldiers and charged to the penitentiary. Marion Lecher, the U. S. consul, said he could make no official representations toward saving Marx's life unless instructed by Washington.

Owl Patrol to Hike.

The race for first position is very exciting at present in both contests, the leaders changing position pretty near every day. The 500 premium list will only last until Saturday's count. There also will be a voting booth at the carnival grounds during the entire week. This booth will be only open at night from 8 o'clock to 10. Today's count is as follows:

Auburn, N. Y., June 11.—One dead and three seriously injured was the culmination of Auburn High School boys' celebration at the close of school. An automobile driven by Louis Brister, 16, son of Mayor Charles Brister, with Francis Carrigan, 16, Clarence Corning, 16, Frederick Stickles, 17 and Theodore Schmitz, 17, as passengers were racing on the country road when the driver failed to note a curve and ran straight ahead, hitting a tree. Carrigan's skull was fractured and he died in a few minutes. Brister suffered broken arms, Corning a broken collar-bone and fingers, and Stickles internal injuries. Schmitz escaped unhurt. All the injured were brought to the Auburn City hospital.

Examining Griffin's Sanity.

An examination to determine the question of whether Daniel Griffin of Meadow street is sane or insane was held today at the court house by the commission appointed by County Judge Jenkins on June 1. Griffin was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of rape committed on his daughter Ethel. When arraigned in county court his attorney, Judge N. Frank O'Reilly asked that the court appoint a commission to examine Griffin as to his sanity. Judge Jenkins appointed as such a commission, Judge James A. Betts, Dr. William J. O'Leary and Dr. Walter D. Hasbrouck. The commission will report its findings later to the court.

PUBLIC MUST AID TO PREVENT EPIDEMIC

Health Officer Stelle Urges That Energetic Measures be Taken to Stamp Out the Disease and That All Co-operate.

As pointed out in my report to the Kingston board of health on June 8, I feel that most energetic measures must be adopted to prevent a general epidemic of scarlet fever from occurring in our city, and believing that by giving to the public the names and addresses of those in quarantine, fewer people will expose themselves to contagion.

You will find below a list of all who are quarantined. Some of the cases mentioned have recovered sufficiently to no longer need medical attention and will be released as soon as the time limit expires and they are no longer able to convey the disease to others.

I believe it would be helpful to again call attention to the following regulations of the state sanitary code. Regulation 24 of chapter 2.—No person shall permit any child, minor or other person under his charge, afflicted with diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, small pox, typhus fever or whooping cough to associate with other than his attendants.

No person afflicted with any said disease shall expose himself in such manner as to cause or contribute to, promote or render liable their spread. Regulation 25 of chapter 2.—No person shall expose or permit the visiting, association or contact of any child, minor or other person under his charge, with any person afflicted with diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, small pox, typhus fever or whooping cough, or discharges of any kind from the person of a patient afflicted with any of said diseases.

No person shall needlessly expose himself, or visit, or associate, or come in personal contact with a case of any of said diseases, or the discharges thereof, or in any manner cause or contribute to, promote or render liable the spread thereof.

Regulation 26 of chapter 1.—Any violation of any provision of this code is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both.

You may assure your readers that any violators of the above regulations who are brought to my notice directly or indirectly with sufficient evidence to promise a conviction, will be escorted to the court, because it is my duty to do so and because it is inhuman for anyone to willfully subject another human being to the inconvenience and dangers that a willful violator would do, and because we have no epidemic at present and will not have one if everyone does their part, and I believe that practically everyone is anxious to do as well as they know how and I shall spare no pains to show them how.

The cases in quarantine at present are:

Scarlet Fever.

In addition to the requirements of the state code I wish to call attention to regulation 11 of the Kingston sanitary code, which reads: When no physician is in attendance, every household or head of family in a house wherein any case of communicable disease may occur, shall report the same to the board of health or the health officer within 24 hours.

BRYAN CLAIMS VICTORY FOR IDEALS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, June 11.—William Jennings Bryan, in a statement today, claimed a victory for his peace ideals as indicated by the new attitude which he says has been taken by the press of the country. He also approved a suggestion that the voters of the U. S. decide whether the nation should go to war, if this be desired and that those who vote for the war first go to the front. Mr. Bryan's statement reads:

"I am glad to note the change in the tone of the press in regard to the note to Germany. From the time the papers began to publish forecasts down to yesterday, the jingo editors have been predicting that the matter would be dealt with with 'great firmness' but that Germany would be told that there must be no delay in the acceptance of this country's demands, etc. Instead of waiting until the note was issued, they put their own construction upon it in advance and colored it to suit their own purposes."

"It is a relief to find the papers now emphasizing the friendly tone of the note and pointing out that it does not necessarily mean war. Something has been gained if the warrior journalists at last realize that the country does not want war, but that on the contrary, it will support the president in his efforts to find a peaceful solution of the difficult problem raised by the use of the submarine against merchantmen."

Mr. Bryan after handing out this statement to reporters a story of how a congressman replying to a jingo speech said:

"While I am personally against war, I am in favor of the country having what it wants. If it wants war, let us have war, but let us find out first if the country does want war. If it becomes necessary to ascertain the sentiment of the country I suggest that a ballot be taken. Let those who want war vote for it; those opposed to war, against it, and let the vote be taken with the understanding that those who vote for war enlist first and that those who vote against war will not be called upon until after those who want war have exhausted their efforts."

Asked if he joined in this sentiment, Bryan said:

"I still believe in the rights of the people to rule and I think that the congressman's suggestion might insure deliberative action on the part of the voters."

Killed by His Automobile.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Baltimore, Md., June 11.—Badly crushed and mangled, the lifeless body of Douglas H. Thomas, Jr., one of the most prominent younger architects of the country and son of Douglas M. Thomas, the Baltimore banker, was found early today under his overturned automobile. The car had skidded and turned completely over.

Fire at Athens.

The brick plant of Joseph Mayone at Athens was burned on Tuesday evening. The fire entailed a loss of $20,000. Mr. Mayone had erected a fine plant capable of turning out 65,000 bricks a day. Water was secured from a nearby creek by the firemen but they could not stay the work of the flames. Mr. Mayone, who formerly lived at Glasco, carried but little insurance.

Sunday Law Not Game Law.

A great many interested in fishing and hunting have been led to believe that fishing and hunting on Sunday is a violation of the game laws. The game laws do not prohibit hunting and fishing on Sunday. While it might be considered a violation of the penal laws, it is not the duty of game protectors to enforce such laws.

Refreshments on Firemen's Day.

The ladies of the Fair Street Reformed Church will serve refreshments on firemen's day, June 17, in the Crosby building, No. 295 Wall street. Among other good things they will serve clam chowder, baked fish, potato salad, sandwiches, beans, pie, ice cream and coffee. The public are very cordially invited.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 11, 1915.

Kingstonians take pride in their city. They may not admire everything which transpires within its borders but they like to have the city appear well before visitors and upon all state and festive occasions to "put its best foot forward." Next week the convention of the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association will be held here. The delegates may be too busy considering firemanic problems to spend time in making inspections except of the fire houses and the high school, where the convention will be held, and the visiting firemen hardly will have time to do more than parade. But there will be many visitors besides—tourists, excursionists, picnickers and others, whose time will be spent largely in looking about the city. Decorations of flags and bunting add greatly to the gay appearance of any town, but householders who decorate their ash and garbage cans with refuse matter which now may be adorning their front lawns and the street in front of their homes will be contributing quite as much to the appearance of the city as though they covered their houses with red, white and blue. Civic patriotism does not consist entirely of hanging out the flag.

A German staff order issued to troops in Poland contains the statement that "We, by the will of the Almighty, have had put into our hands a new and mighty weapon—those gases wherewith we have defeated our enemies." The Kaiser is positive, also, that God guides him in his war plans, while each of the Allies gives praise to the Creator for their victories which are dictated, they believe, by divine Providence. The righteous always claim God's protecting care over them and His direction of their movements, but when two combatants both lay claim to the same guidance the question naturally arises: Which combatant is righteous? In the very nature of His being, as theologians teach and as common sense dictates, God cannot be right on opposite sides of a subject. Right is an inherent quality. If God is in favor of the right, He cannot also be in favor of the wrong; any contrary conception of the Deity is insulting alike to Him as a Supreme Being and also to the people who are asked to swallow such a doctrine. So, if God has put into the hands of Germany a new and mighty weapon in the form of poisonous gases with which to slaughter armies, He cannot likewise have placed the same weapon in the hands of the Allies, because they are fighting over a matter on which one side is right and the other side is wrong. Bolstering up a cause by claiming Divine protection, inspiration and leadership is an ancient custom but it is cowardly. Does anyone suppose, by the way, that God by His very nature enjoys seeing men slaughter each other? Does He encourage the slaughter or merely tolerate it?

The suggestion that the cabinet of the President of the United States should show a coalition of representatives of the most prominent shades of political belief respecting our foreign policy is one of the most insane that has been made in many years. Such a plan cannot operate successfully in any nation in its intercourse with other nations. In regulating internal affairs antagonistic groups may be placated and the best results obtained by giving them representation in the President's official family but that plan does not always work well either. So far as foreign relations are concerned, when diplomatic relations become strained or show indications of such condition, there can be with safety but one policy, on which all officials who are in a position to help or hamper such policy must unite. It must have been with reluctance that Bryan saw the President take from his hands the diplomatic correspondence which ordinarily would have been carried on by him, but no other course than that adopted by President Wilson with Bryan could have been followed with safety. However weak the remaining members of the cabinet may be, they possess at least one element of strength, which is unity of action with and loyalty to the President. Under existing conditions if we had a Secretary of State endeavoring to prevent a demand for reparation of wrongs and injury sustained by American life and property at the hands of Germany, and each other cabinet officer trying through his respective department to prevent the carrying out of a settled policy toward some other particular government of the warring powers, we should have a condition of governmental chaos or governmental anarchy. The United States is stronger by reason of Bryan's withdrawal from the government, and even the time and the circumstance of his resignation do not weaken our position.

BIG BROTHER—BIG SISTER.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Big Brother, Big Sister, Juvenile Court, boy and girl delinquents, smiles and tears—they are all mixed in beneficent confusion.

The Big Brothers are organized for preventive, protective work, to keep in line the small lads who get in trouble with the law or who hover threateningly near the danger-point, and to "brother" stray waifs who are in greater need of friendly counsel and a bit of affection than of guidance by law.

And the Big Sisters, women of education and experience, of heart and insight—their same kindly service in behalf of less fortunate girls and young women; and in the very name there is a suggestion of comradeship that is particularly impressive when it grows just for humanity's sake.

In New York there are something like seven or eight hundred of these Big Brothers who have undertaken to keep a line out to connect them with the lads who are more or less close to the Juvenile Court; and it is as the erring little fellows pour out their dismal, sordid stories to their new protectors that the work of love and comradeship begins to tell.

The Big Brothers are "up" socially and financially, while the waifs are all that the word implies, "down" in luck, training and all else, so it is not difficult to lend a helping and an uplifting hand. Sometimes it is extended in the way of finding work, sometimes human affection to put them in the way of real manhood, and often a taste of real pleasure. For camping parties and gymnasiums are better than the court, and it is more comfortable and far happier for these little brothers to keep straight and to learn to be wholesome and true than to go far astray. One can imagine that some doleful tales pass from the street urchins to their big comrades in their moments of confidence and one can appreciate the possibilities for the making of men instead of criminals.

And there are countless little fellows who keep far away from the Juvenile Court and still are in need of the kindly protection and counsel of a Big Brother. One often wonders just how close may be the relationship between a big man and his small caddie. They are so widely apart that it would seem a right gracious, human sort of thing to get in touch with the little stranger and emanate something of the spirit of the Big Brother.

And as to the Big Sister movement, a suggestion was made recently, good in itself and an indication of the varied fields in which the Big Sister can be of inestimable service if she likes.

It was a very simple matter, just the easily arranged detail of getting one's laundry ready to send out on Saturday instead of Monday, so that workers might begin Monday morning, and finish during the day rather than start late in the afternoon and work into the night.

Now, we may not actively be one of the Big Sisters and yet in quiet, telling ways may live up to the spirit of the work.

For instance, the season of early closing is approaching—early in some cities, some shops—and woman can give a decided impetus to this very beneficial custom by clearing up their shopping early, rather than dragging around to the very last moment, and exacting the last bit of energy that clerks possess.

Fourth of July is not so far away, and one wishes that all the stores in town would close their doors the day long; but whether they do or not, let us remember to send our orders early the day before and not be among the laggards to keep clerks and small boys running about until all sorts of hours. For too often the morning is gone before their chance for celebrating begins.

All summer long, grocery stores are busiest on Saturday afternoons. It would be a nice sort of thing to close orders early in the morning, for, you know, many times they go in sections, the last one pretty late; and that means that the little fellow who delivers must work weary hours to serve those who should be more thoughtful.

If one chooses to remember, there are limitless opportunities for the Big Brother or the Big Sister who may not flock to the ranks and actively register for service and yet may live up to the spirit of the movement.

It is quite often a case just of remembering.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

Lucas Avenue Heights.

We have again been called to mourn the loss of a friend and neighbor, Mrs. George A. Green, who died at her home here on Merritt avenue on Monday afternoon at 5:45. Mrs. Green went to the Kingston City Hospital about a month ago and there underwent an operation to have a tumor removed. The operation was very successful and she was getting along nicely, returning to her home about a week ago, where she was receiving the loving care of a husband and daughter. On Monday she was exceptionally jovial and enjoyed the company of her family and neighbors more than usual. Mr. Green went about his duties in the garden and poultry plant and about 4 o'clock one of the neighbors who was at the house came and called him, saying Mrs. Green was not so well. Mr. Green immediately telephoned for the doctor, who arrived shortly but in spite of his best attentions she died at 5:45. Mrs. Green was 49 years old, a daughter of E. W. Ackerley and wife of Sullivan county, who survive her, along with a husband and one daughter. Ethel, who has been a stenographer for the past five years in the employ of the U. & D. R. R. Undertaker Carr took charge of the remains and the funeral was held this afternoon from her late residence.

Greenkill Park.

The park management is again facing a very successful season as many who were there last season have either returned for this season or will shortly. Each year the management adds some new feature over the year before. This season it is a very fine vegetable and flower garden which presents a very attractive appearance. They are also having mechanics erect a pipe frame to be covered with poultry wire, around the tennis court and this will be greatly appreciated by lovers of the game as the balls cannot be readily knocked off the court.

On Tuesday evening some of the women became very excited for a time and enlivened the stillness of the night by calling lustily for help. Some young men soon hunting approached quite close to one of the cottages and the inmates thinking they were about to be burglarized became alarmed and yelled lustily. The hunters made off rapidly and no one was hurt. It was well they did, as the night watchman at his side constantly and night marauders are apt to meet with an application of hot lead from his teeth. So boys, take warning and give this place a wide berth.

FEDERATION FACES SHORTAGE OF FUNDS

Obstinate and Senseless Misunderstanding of Last Winter's Charity Relief Work Given as Excuse For Not Giving Necessary Funds.

One of the most important meetings of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs of this city ever held during the entire existence of the Federation was held on Thursday at the home of the president, Mrs. C. K. Moulton, who presided. That the women of the committee realized the importance of the meeting was plainly evidenced by the fact that practically every member of the committee was present.

The finances of the Federation and its future policy were the two main subjects under discussion. Other business came up of less importance and was attended to at once. The report of the secretary, Mrs. Gray, was read and accepted. The corresponding secretary, Miss Ellen Van Slyke read a communication from the Knights of Columbus inviting the Federation to participate in the coming celebration of July the Fourth, and it was voted that the secretary should, for the Federation, accept the invitation.

Mrs. Frank Merritt, treasurer, made as complete a report as was possible owing to the fact that the Tag Day money has not yet been counted at the bank and small additional sums are still coming in. So far as the finances are actually known the report was as follows:

Day Nursery fund:
Balance on hand $326.32
Due from Federation $104.46
Disbursements for the past month $332.64

Balance now on hand $189.22

Visiting nurse fund $56.50
The disbursements of the Federation itself, for the past month were $124.12. The receipts were $117, leaving $7.12 which the Federation owes on bills. As the sum received from Tag Day was something over $640 it was voted that first of all the Federation should make up the deficit in its treasury of $11.58, due to the Day Nursery and for disbursements, as soon as the money of Tag Day was placed to the Federation credit at the bank.

It will be readily seen that this leaves a comparatively small sum to the credit of the Federation for their year's work to come. What the policy of the Federation should be in the immediate future, in view of the fact that $1,500 was asked for to carry forward the work for the year, while less than $700 has as yet been actually received, though somewhat over that amount has been promised, made those present feel that the community had but one idea in mind as to their work and general usefulness in the city. Their expenses must be cut and cut deep, and of course this means that their efficiency must be greatly lessened, either as to the amount of work they do, or as to the length of time they are able to carry on the work.

It was made plain through reports of experiences of Tag Day workers, that the community at large, still thinks and insists upon thinking, explanations to the contrary, that the relief money contributed to Mrs. MacMillan last year as social worker through the Federation, treasury, and therefore the Federation should not be in need of funds. While this attitude obviously unfair to the Federation, it existed to such an extent as to materially lessen the amount that would naturally have been expected to be raised on Tag Day, considering the fact that the Federation had throughout the winter paid in full the salary of the social worker who really acted as a distributing charity bureau for the entire city.

The situation was discussed and considered from every possible viewpoint, and finally it was moved to take action for a temporary reduction of expenses, if the plan proved feasible, in order to so stretch out the funds as to eliminate the necessity of entirely stopping the Federation work in the fall or winter. Another meeting of the executive committee will be necessary to take the definite steps in regard to the future working of the Federation, and also to receive a full report of the Tag Day funds. One thing was determined by the women this morning, that the scope of the Federation activities must be measured entirely by the cash on hand.

Mrs. Van Hovenberg, chairman of the auditing committee, reported that the committee had met with Mrs. Mark O'Leary, former treasurer, and had gone over all accounts for the past two years, finding them to be absolutely correct.

Look for the Stars Tomorrow

starring the Great White Event

Again We Do the Unusual—Launching Tomorrow THIS BIG and UNIQUE WHITE EVENT Featuring an "All-Star Cast" of Brilliant Values

In the same way does this Great June White Event shine high above the average sale. It is more than a sale of a few lines of white merchandise—it is a big, broad event that takes in nearly every department where white merchandise of any sort is carried.

Instead of the ordinary White Sale we launch tomorrow a "different" event—a White Sale in which the variety of merchandise and the values offered are so unusual that we have been forced to borrow a term from the theatrical world to bring out their true importance. A "star" is an actor or actress of unusual brilliancy—one, who has attained a position at the top of the profession by a skill that shines high above the average.

It is a "Star" event all the way through—in the broadness of Assortments; in the charm of new Summer Styles presented; in Quality; and in the brilliancy of its Values. Look for the stars in the store! Every star is a brilliant example of value giving!

We look for a great "audience" of thrifty shoppers here tomorrow—and every day of the sale. We are prepared for busy times, for there will be enthusiastic applause in the shape of record-breaking buying

VAN WAGENEN'S

MECCA OF TOURISTS.

That is Kingston and Their Temple is the Eagle Hotel.

When it comes right down to the solid truth, Pennsylvania is not in it with the state of New York for good roads. Petty politicians of the former have shouted the slogan "good roads" and then sat down and watched the automobile go by over stony roads and through many a mud hole, while the men of New York state have taken off their coats and got right down to work and made good roads—many a mile of them—roads that are as smooth as the top of a table and as dustless as the palm of your hand.

This does not mean that our state is lacking entirely in good roads, for that is not so. Take the road from here to Pocono and on down to Stroudsburg, and the river road from the latter place to Milford. That is a good route. But the road from Milford to Blooming Grove—well, hear enough the lesson, and from all such may the "good Lord deliver us."

Entering Port Jervis, N. Y., by the long bridge, for which a tax of 25c is required for an automobile carrying four persons, you smile at the sign hung in your face and reading "welcome to our city" (?) Ouch! the barbarity of this in these enlightened days, when the Federal and State government exercise power of jurisdiction and restriction over all public utilities.

The historic old town of Kingston is the mecca of many tourists, the majority stopping at the Eagle Hotel, now owned and personally conducted by C. A. Hungerford, a hotel man of long experience, with up-to-now ideas as to what the public requires. When a guest opens up and begins to say a few nice things about his care and solicitation for the comfort of patrons, he puts up a warning finger, and with a smile lets this sound on your ears with musical accents: "Now, now; it is to my very capable wife that all this smoothness runs without a jarring note; she shapes the plans for the house, I just carry them out. She makes the comfort. She makes it home for all under this roof. I wish my guests to get the idea that the Eagle Hotel is home."

Then, with a tender look in his eyes he added: "Mrs. Hungerford makes Home, not alone for me, but for all the guests in the house."

Speaking of the Eagle Hotel, it is indeed a far cry from the days of fifty years ago, when Gilbert Decker owned the house. Then a daily event was the stopping of the old Kingston and Delhi stage coach at the door. The four horses clattering up, Tom Tilford holding the ribbons and cracking his whip so loud that it could be heard a block above at "Billy Hamilton's corner." The call boy would shout in a shrill voice: "Ladies and gentlemen will please take the Delhi stage." Now the automobile rolls up to the door on a smooth pave, "Front" rushes out and takes your wraps and you are shown into a magnificent reception hall, where the sense of rest and home folds you all about.

Under the present management the hotel has been made very modern. Service in the dining room is excellent, the food abundant and its preparation in the hands of competent chefs.—Elmhurst, Penn. Signal.

Moran Business School Notes.

Notwithstanding the approach of the warm weather season, the enrollment continues to grow steadily, the number now being over fifty. Four new students have enrolled during the present week, and quite a number of teachers and others are expected to commence courses in the summer school, as soon as the public schools have closed. It has been found necessary to continue the night school throughout the coming summer.

Wonderfully effective work is being done by Prof. W. W. Harries, C. P. A., in reconstructing the penmanship of the commercial students. The Palmer method, which is the system taught at the Moran School, has overcome the evils of the old "copy book" method of teaching writing, is rapidly being adopted by all public and private schools throughout the country, and is the system being taught in the Standard Commercial School in the Palace of Education at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The latest awards made by the Palmer Company to students of this school include primary awards to Stephen Richardson, Isidore Jacobson and M. Spector; also awards for advanced work to Frieda Menzel and C. F. Jenks.

The fine lettering on the twenty windows of the Moran Business School is very effective, and as an advertisement for the school, it is a proof next in value to the newspaper publicity run in The Freeman.

Interesting educational exhibits, showing "How a Lead Pencil is Made," "How Flour is Made," and another showing the manufacture of fine silks in various stages of manufacture, have lately been received from manufacturers for display in the commercial department of the school, and these valuable exhibits prove both interesting and instructive.

KRIEPELBUSH.

Kriepelbush, June 10.—The gardens are doing nicely but a rain would aid them very much.

John Smith has been employed by Ulrich Connor, making a former foundation for the front porch. John certainly is a worker, always busy. He often is seen working until 8:30 at night.

Don't forget the platform dances to be held every Wednesday night at Ernest Christiana's pavilion. All come and have a good time.

No Kick Then.

Bill—"I see a British agent buying mules rejects all gray mules. He says they can be seen too far." Jill—"Well, I should think a mule is safer at a distance."

TAFT ADVOCATES EASIER REMOVAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, June 11.—Former President William H. Taft, in addressing the constitutional convention committee of the judiciary today, expressed the belief that there should be written into the constitution a clause which would remove the immunity of justices who have overstepped their judicial officers.

"I feel positive that judicial officers should not be permitted to maintain the belief that they are independent while on the bench and not amenable for having gone beyond their prerogatives," commented the former President.

At this point the ex-president suggested various forms of facilitating the methods of impeachment. He declared that the reasons for impeachment should be enlarged and that the lack of judicial temperament and the incompetency should enter into the possibilities of impeachment of judicial officers. He would increase the number of votes to impeach upon these grounds, but not with relation to impeachment based upon crime in office. He urged that the legislature be given discretionary power as to the method of impeachment and thought that a court of trial of the upper house might be advantageous. Former President Taft stood firm for the appointment instead of the election of judges and favored the abolition of the grand jury system. He also declared that the third degree was a moral torture and illegal. He liked the French method with relations to the preliminary examination of those about to be tried for crime and termed our system as a "preparation of a perjured defense."

It was also declared by Mr. Taft, that in his belief, the courts were permitted to go too far in the admission of evidence.

It was again pointed out by Mr. Taft that the people should have faith in their elective and judicial officers and that to safeguard the possible transgressions of such officers showed a lack of confidence.

"To make too many of these provisions is like the Irishman drinking claret," he said. "I drink and drink," said the Irishman, "and get no further." As he left the judiciary room the former President met his former secretary of state, Elihu Root and the two men shook hands. In the chamber where the meeting was held, were three of the former President's cabinet members, Secretary of State Root, Secretary of War Stimson and Attorney General Wickersham. All are delegates to the constitutional convention.

The ridge road is being widened and put in fine shape. The state road job is nearly half finished. Census of the Jail.

Census Enumerator Lewis A. Haulenbeck was busy Thursday morning taking the census of the population of the county jail where at the present time thirty-two prisoners are being entertained by the county on various charges ranging from murder to plain drunkenness. The one prisoner charged with murder whose pedigree was taken by the census man was Edwin Van Aken, standing trial on the charge of murdering his wife. It was not necessary for the census man to interview the prisoners as the information he needed was given him by Seth Jocelyn of the sheriff's office from the jail records. Some of those whose pedigree was taken are awaiting the end of county court when they will be taken to Dannemora to serve sentences imposed. Among them are Martin Eckert who abducted the Jordan girl of Ashokan and Joseph Miller who pleaded guilty to the charge of rape committed on a young girl in the lower section of the city.

WEDDING WARE FOR THE JUNE BRIDE

Silverware, which is becoming more and more the most popular wedding gift, must have a standard of merit to be appreciated by the bride. If it is Gorham's you know and she knows that it is genuine. Gifts of silver and gold have the intrinsic value and permanence of a precious stone and should not be nondescript in origin.

Our stock is large and varied, and our prices are as low as those of the Gorham Company.

THUNDERSTORMS.

Simple Scientific Explanation of How They Occur.

ELECTRICITY IN THE CLOUDS.

The Processes by Which the Masses of Unequally Charged Vapor Are United, the Lightning Flashes Generated and the Downpour Started.

Lightning is the result of electric discharges from the clouds, says the Electrical Experimenter in printing what it calls "a thunderstorm primer." Every cloud, like every other object, contains electricity. This makes no disturbance so long as the quantity contained is normal. When the quantity becomes greater than normal the object is positively charged; when it becomes less than normal the object is negatively charged. The equilibrium of the electric force in the clouds is disturbed by evaporations from the surface of the earth, by changes of temperature in the atmospheric vapor, by chemical action on the earth's surface and by the friction of volumes of air of different densities against each other.

When clouds charged with the opposite electricities approach, the forces rush toward each other and combine to restore the state of equilibrium, for all bodies charged with opposite electricities attract each other. Between the clouds is air, an excellent nonconductor, through which the electricity has to force a passage. The violence with which it does this produces the lightning and the accompanying crash of thunder.

Clouds are good conductors, while the air about them is a nonconductor; therefore the electricity accumulates in the clouds. It is probably this electricity which prevents the particles of water from uniting together and falling down in the form of rain.

Imagine two clouds near to each other in the sky, one positively and the other negatively electrified, for there cannot in all nature be such a condition as that of one body positively excited without the coexistence of another body negatively excited. If the positively charged cloud were all alone in the sky the circumjacent atmosphere would assume the negative function. But as the other cloud is near by it becomes negative, and both are mutually attracted. They approach each other until the space of air between them can no longer resist their electric tension, when the discharge takes place.

The equilibrium of the clouds being thus restored, there is nothing to keep the particles of water apart; they coalesce into drops and fall as rain.

When only the clouds are involved the equilibrium is quickly restored by a few flashes and the storm is over. When the air also is involved it continues to charge the clouds with electricity, and the discharges continue until the various strata of air are brought into their normal state.

Sometimes, when the clouds are charged with an opposite electricity to that of the earth, a discharge takes place from clouds to earth or from earth to clouds. It is only when there is a great disturbance of the electrical forces that the lightning flashes to the earth or vice versa.

The flash and the thunder peal are simultaneous, and we see the one before we hear the other because light waves move far more swiftly than sound waves. The peal of thunder is instantaneous, but comes to us as a roll through being echoed from clouds or mountains. The noise is caused by the vibrations of the air rushing to fill up the spaces where the electrical discharge has rarefied it and condensed its vapors.

Lightning is zigzag when it travels through a long distance, because it compresses the air, which interferes with its direct course. It is straight when it passes through only a short distance. It is forked when, being resisted by the air, it divides into two or three points. It is sheet when the flash is too distant to be visible, and its reflection alone is seen.

By remembering that sound travels a quarter of a mile in a second, while light travels so swiftly that we see it instantaneously, we can tell how far off a thunder clap is. If we hear a thunder clap four seconds after seeing the flash we know it is a mile away. For such calculations our own pulse is a sufficiently accurate measure of time, for the pulse of an adult beats about once a second. A person under forty should count five beats to the mile; a person under twenty should count six beats to the mile.

A Rough Criticism.
Lord Houghton's epigram on "Sordello," probably the most obscure of Browning's poems, though it has often gone the rounds, is worth recalling. Said Lord Houghton, then only Dicky Milnes, "There are but two lines in 'Sordello' I can understand—the first and last—'Who will may hear Sordello's story told' and 'Who would hath heard Sordello's story told,' and both are false."

Finger Print Love.
"Why do you think you'll be happy if you marry that young man, daughter?" asked the father.
"Because, father, we've had our finger prints examined and they almost match." Was the sweet young thing's reply.—Yonkers Statesman.

Let us remember that justice must be observed even to the lowest.—Cicero.

Opinions Recast.
A man cannot speak but he judges and reveals himself.—With his will, or against his will, he draws his portrait to the eye of others by every word.—Every opinion reacts on him who utters it.—Emerson.

THE ROSE FROCK.

"Queen Rose of the Rosebud Garden of Girls" Describes Gown.

LINGERIE GOWN.

The month of roses, with its brides and weddings, brings out many versions of the "rose frocks." The gown shown here to be worn at a midsummer evening function is one of the prettiest of the season's offerings in rose.

The gown is of faintly rose chiffon, very simply built, just a straight hemmed and gathered skirt and surplice waist, which serves also for sleeves. But the charm of the frock is in its trimming of roses and the color in which it reveals.

The roses are tiny and set upon the skirt in alluring little circles as finishings of the ribbon trimming. The glorie of ribbon is trimmed in the same manner, and in her arms the wearer will carry a bouquet of pink roses.

CURTAIN LAUNDERING.

How to Correctly Wash Lace Curtains and Dry Them.

There is a right as well as a wrong way to do curtains.

First, take the measure of all the curtains before putting in the tub. Keep this slip of measurements to adjust the stretchers correctly.

Second, fold the curtains lengthways and crossways until they are about a foot either way and keep them this way until they are ready to put on frames. This will keep them from stretching.

Third, soak in slightly warm water for a half hour, then squeeze gently (never wring) and put in warmer water and rub them good with any white soap. Let soak while the curtain frames are being cleaned by using a small whisk broom and sponges, then rinse and dry. Now squeeze the curtains carefully (never rub on a board), remove from this water and place in a boiler of warm suds and ammonia and let come to a boil and boil about ten minutes.

Fourth, suds, rinse and blue. Now for the starching, which is a very important part. For six pairs use three tablespoonfuls of good starch to three and one-half quarts of water. Dip a small piece of net in the starch to try it and then dry it quickly and make sure the stiffness the curtain will be when dry.

Fifth, now they are ready for the frames. Take the first one and put over the pin in one corner of the top of the curtain; then go to the bottom of the curtain on the same side and catch up the other corner, then the opposite corners. Now begin in the middle of the curtain and pin two or three, then in the middle between this and the ends either way. Same way with the other sides, also the ends or top and bottom.

Do not draw them along the edges, but with both hands bring them up to the pins in a straight line.

Keep the threads of the curtains always straight and ease in any slight fullness, should there be any, rather than let it come out at ends.

When dry remove carefully and do this one important part: Lay the curtains lengthwise on a bed not in use and fold in the middle lengthways, then once again lengthways, never crossways. When the curtains are on the poles they will hang in lengthwise folds.

The surprise and satisfaction that come from curtains done the right way doubly repay one for all the work.

Scalloped Onions.

Boil six or eight onions until tender, changing the water once. Separate them with a fork and arrange in layers in a buttered earthen dish, alternating the layers with buttered breadcrumbs. Season with salt and pepper, pour over the whole enough rich milk to nearly cover, spread with melted butter and brown in a moderate oven.

Thrown Out, All Right.

Mrs. Flatbush—"My neighbor's husband and brother were thrown out of work by the war." Mrs. Bensonhurst—"Sure, that's nothing. I know a woman who had two husbands thrown out of work by blasts."

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION NOTES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, June 11.—According to the rule adopted in the early days of its deliberations, the state constitutional convention today received the last of the proposed amendments to the constitution from the individual delegates. From now on further proposals will be rejected unless unanimous consent is given or the desired amendments are presented by a committee of the delegate body.

Nearly six hundred proposed amendments have been received, yet it is declared upon executive authority that the greater portion of the propositions will be rejected and will progress no further than the committees to which they were referred for consideration.

That the work of the constitutional convention will be most conservative, is conceded by its most prominent members. The debates which are now about to be the order of each day of session are likely to be long and fragrant with the views of men of wide public affairs and substantial ability. In fact, the actual work of the delegates may be said to have just presented itself, in that the mere presentation of proposed amendments has been devoid of significance other than to establish the contrast between the number of proposals offered and those which will fail of endorsement by the convention.

Propositions aimed at practically every section of the constitution have been brought forward. Theories novel and drastic have been advocated in relation to several branches of state government which the people have apparently found little fault with, while the departments which have been reorganized by the legislature of the present year are subjects of numerous proposed amendments also.

The fact that if ratified by the voters this fall the action of the convention must endure for at least twenty years, at once brings home to the delegates the realization that they should enact no amendment which does not tend toward the betterment and simplification of a governmental function of the state. This of course means that every angle of a proposition reported by a committee will be exhibited in the course of the discussion which it causes and that eloquence and political astuteness will vie with conviction and the exploitation of individualism, the whole resulting in a brilliant series of arguments in which the keenest and most able minds in the state will participate.

No legislative body has numbered among its members so great an array of distinguished men in the history of this state since the last constitutional convention. No presiding officer of any formal gathering has ever exceeded in ability or experience the chairman of the present constitutional convention.

These statements conceded, no better opportunity to become versed in the diverse articles of the proposed amended constitution, can be offered than attendance during the debates which are about to begin and which will delve into the very groundwork of the laws under which the people of New York state are working.

It has been predicted that in some instances debates will continue all day; it is certain that the sessions of one hour which have prevailed up to this time, except as regards committee hearings, will no longer prevail.

Make Planthaber's Your Saturday Shopping Place!

The best Grocery or Meat buy is where you pay just prices and get full value—at a reliable market like ours. Sometimes you get high value at a low price elsewhere—and you are lucky—but in the nature of things your gain in this way is usually offset in another way. In the long run, therefore, you get what you pay for. By accustoming yourself to paying quality-prices you increase the probability of quality-service, just as, by reversing this rule, you increase the liability of being humbugged. Study this argument and you will probably see why it would pay you to trade at a reliable market like ours all the time.

EIGHT SHIPS SUNK BY SUBMARINES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 11.—Reports were received today from various sources of the destruction of eight ships, four of them British trawlers. The admiralty announced the sinking of the steamship Otago by a German submarine in the North Sea while bound for Hull. All members of her crew were saved.

Two of the British trawlers destroyed were sunk in the North Sea by Zeppelins. Another, the Caronella, was sunk by a German submarine while the fourth, the Letty, is believed to have struck a mine. All the Letty's crew was lost.

The British steamship Strathcaran was sunk in British waters by a German submarine and the Russian bark Thomassini was torpedoed by a German under-water boat off the Irish coast. The German admiralty reported the loss of the steamship Zwina without giving any details.

The Otago is listed by Lloyds as a Swedish ship of 1,410 tons.

Tragedy in Central Park.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, June 11.—A tragedy of love had its culmination in Central Park early today when a young Swedish nobleman and his sweetheart died in a suicide pact. The young woman, who was identified as Miss Annie Malmquist a member of a rich and prominent Swedish family of Brooklyn, had been shot twice in the breast, over the heart. The man, Frederick Husestius, a member of a noble Swedish family of Stockholm, was shot in the head. He was living when found, but died shortly afterwards without regaining consciousness.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The telephone call of Mrs. C. N. Reed, society news reporter for The Freeman, has been changed to 1012-W.

Mrs. T. T. Telford of White Plains was pleasantly surprised last evening at the home of Mrs. Elva Eckert by a number of her Kingston friends. Cards were the feature of the evening. Mrs. Telford leaves Sunday for Buffalo, where she will reside in the future.

The executive committee of the Kingston Academy Alumni Association met on Thursday evening at Kingston Academy and decided to hold a banquet and reception on Wednesday evening, June 23. The banquet will be served in the large study hall at Kingston Academy and will be followed by a dance. The committee on speakers are making efforts to secure three of the famous sons of the academy to deliver brief addresses at the banquet and it is hoped that all of the alumni of the old school will make an effort to attend the reunion. The following committees have been so far announced: Committee on music, Edward Weiner and Samuel D. Scudder, Jr.; committee on speakers, Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Miss Edith Scott and John W. Eckert; committee on tables, Dr. Frank Keator, Harold Burroughs and A. Leighton; committee on decoration, Miss H. Clearwater, Robin Stelle and Miss Neone.

Hubbell-Harp.

Miss Anna Harp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harp, and Charles Hubbell were married in New Paltz on Thursday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Cranston of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. Miss Harp has been teaching at Lakewood while the groom is an engineer there. They will reside at Lakewood after a short wedding trip.

Bundy-Porter.

Miss Charlotte Porter of Poughkeepsie and Grant Bundy of Highland were married at the parsonage of the Washington Street M. E. Church on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Morley P. Williams. They were attended by William Schultz and Miss Edith Castonguay. Mr. and Mrs. Bundy will reside at No. 40 Market street, Poughkeepsie.

Maxwell-Krom.

The wedding of Maurice Maxwell of Binnewater and Miss Bertha Krom, daughter of Andrew Krom of Binnewater, took place at All Saints' Rectory, Rosendale, at one o'clock Thursday, June 10, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. James G. Cameron, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church. The attendants were Fred Miller and Miss Lottie Krom, sister of the bride, from Ellenville. The bride party left for New York, for a short visit, on the same day. The bride has a large circle of friends and the wedding gifts were numerous, including silverware, cut glass and table linens. On their return, Mr.

and Mrs. Maxwell reside at 36 Hurley avenue, Kingston, in a well furnished home made ready for them.

Eidele-Stangie.

Wednesday morning St. Andrew's Church, Ellenville, was the scene of a very pretty June wedding. The contracting parties were John Eidele of Woodbourne and Miss Cecelia Stangie, daughter of Mrs. Lena Stangie, of Ulster Heights. They were attended by Joseph Kless and Miss Dora Bennett. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial high mass at ten o'clock by the Rev. Father Bamberg. The bride was gown in white satin, lace trimmings and wore a bridal veil, and carried bride's roses and was given in marriage by her brother, Daniel Stangie. The bridesmaid wore a gown of yellow satin, wore a lace cap, and carried yellow roses. Miss Anna Henniger, organist of the church, rendered the wedding march and the choir sang the mass and "Perfect Love." Following the ceremony at the church the wedding party and guests were taken in automobiles to Ulster Heights, and a reception was given at the bride's home, and a bountiful wedding dinner served. The young people have a host of friends who extend to them very hearty congratulations.

Chamber Music at Recital.

The violin recital given by several of the pupils of Ford Hummel, violinist of this city, at the First Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening, was unique in character and excellent in character throughout. The church was filled with the friends of Mr. Hummel and the pupils and music lovers of the city, and the large audience was decidedly inspiring in its appreciation of the music rendered.

The program opened with an innovation, and an excellent one. The violin choir, composed of some ten or twelve of the more advanced of Mr. Hummel's pupils. They gave a fine exhibition of technical violin playing, which was briefly explained by Mr. Hummel before the music began. First there was a study in "Detached Bowing," by Musini; then a "Velocity Study for the Four Fingers," by Leonard; also a "Velocity Study for Fourth Finger and Long Bow," by Musini; all of which exercises were admirably given by the musicians, even though somewhat crowded for elbow room, an important item in violin playing. The music by the violin choir, closed with a "Virtuoso Study," by Musini; Bach's "Air on the G String," and a charming little "Slumber Song," by Weitzel. Throughout, the ensemble was excellent, the tone clean and true and the tonality good.

The first solo number on the program was Saint Saens' "The Swan," played by Harry Demgen, who gave a very smooth, finished and graceful presentation of this charming composition, showing a very marked improvement in his musicianship over last year. Miss Marion Kingman next played the big and rather exacting "Largo," by Handel. Miss Kingman gets a fine, broad tone from her violin, and her phrasing was good.

Fels & Co., Philadelphia.

In fact, dignity marked her whole interpretation of the work.

Then came a delightful piece of chamber music, Haydn's Trio No. 6, in D Major, the Allegro movement, played by Ford Hummel, violin; Gordon Burhans, cello; and Mrs. Ford Hummel, piano. It was a delightful piece of pure, charming music, such as Haydn knew so well how to write, and it was remarkably well presented, especially as it was the premiere performance of this particular trio.

Another excellent solo number was Borowski's "Adoration," played with an unusually broad interpretation and spirit, free bowing and sureness by Miss Catherine Van Buren.

Miss Winifred Wardle of Catskill is one of Mr. Hummel's artist pupils, and she played the Wieniawski "Legende," with all its technical and interpretative demands, in a musicianly manner. The tonality and coloring were unusually good and she took the final high note, which leaves either such a beautiful or such a distressing impression upon the listener, with firmness and clearness that were fine.

Part II of the program opened with a decided disappointment for all, when Mr. Hummel was forced to announce that owing to the serious illness of Fred Goodwin, the quartet in D Major, by Haydn, which was to have been played by Ford Hummel, first violin; Fred Goodwin, second violin; T. C. Swart, viola, and Gordon Burhans, cello, would have to be omitted.

Right here the character of the program was pleasingly changed by the introduction of two vocal numbers, sung by Miss Constance Wardle, of Catskill, soloist at the First Presbyterian Church. Miss Wardle has a delightfully musical and freshly sweet voice, and there was something in her singing of the "Good-bye Summer," by Tosti, that gripped the hearts of her hearers, in such manner as to prophesy real artistic success, provided Miss Wardle keeps this ideal of singing to the hearts of her audience, through the medium of well trained vocalization, rather than making the latter the aim of her singing. Quite in contrast, but very good was Nevin's "One Spring Morning," with violin obligato, which Miss Wardle sang with a happy lilt and grace.

Mrs. Hummel was the efficient accompanist for all numbers, but the Accolay, "Concerto in A Minor," which Master Earle Hummel played. It will be remembered that this marvelously gifted lad played this concerto with the Symphony orchestra at Association Hall last spring. The young virtuoso has made big strides in his musicianship since then, having gained in breadth of conception, fullness and roundness of tone throughout, excellence of phrasing, and that confidence that comes from perfect familiarity. Again it was noted that there was not one thing childish about the performance, and yet, strange to say, it was in no sense unpleasantly mature and pedantic.

The very commendable program was brought to a close with the finished, graceful, spirited performance of Beethoven's "The Bee," as played splendidly by Miss Hazel Tuttle of Catskill.

Both Mr. Hummel and his pupils are to be congratulated upon the excellence of last evening's recital.

Celebration at Krumville.

A celebration will be held at Krumville on July 3. Music will be furnished by the People's Band of Ellenville. Refreshments of all kinds will be on sale and supper will be served on the grounds from 4 o'clock. If the weather proves stormy the celebration will be held on July 5.

Motorcyclist Injured.

Joseph Murphy of Stephan street was badly bruised while riding a motorcycle Thursday afternoon. He collided with the automobile driven by Elmer E. Swart. Mr. Swart was on the right side of the street near St. Mary's Church and bystanders claim that Murphy seemed to have become befogged and drove across the road and collided with the auto. He was cut some about the legs and body and Mr. Swart had him taken in the auto and conveyed to his home. Dr. Chandler was in attendance and after dressing the injuries had Murphy removed to the Kingston City Hospital. His injuries are not serious.

Police in New Headquarters.

The police department has moved from its temporary headquarters into the new room which has recently been fitted up. The main door leads into the public room where there is a sergeant's desk, the desk being of quartered oak. The floor is of mosaic tile. In the rear is the chief's office and a detention room on the other side. The workmen will now start on the adjoining room formerly occupied by the chief and locker room and convert it into a room for officers going on duty and a room for photographing and measuring of prisoners. Locker rooms and lavatory facilities are also provided for in the new scheme.

Testing New Fire Truck.

Two experts representing the New York State Board of Fire Underwriters of Syracuse, Lawrence Daw, M. E., and Mr. Wood, were in town this morning and started a test of the motor truck recently purchased by the city from the American La France Company of Elmira. The company was represented by Mr. Bruce. An exhaustive test was made, lasting from 9 o'clock this morning until late this afternoon and the different pumping qualifications were put through their paces. Fire Commissioners Kolts and Lahl represented the fire board and Deputy Chief Murphy and some of the attaches of the central fire station were present to assist in the test.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, June 11.—The dove of peace slowly is descending and soon will rest on the baseball world. Sixty days more, and if nothing unforeseen happens the Feds and organized baseball will be taking a few inhales from the same pipe of peace and buying each other champagne.

There are some who still are skeptical about the probability of peace but if they only will analyze the events that have transpired during the past six weeks they will not be skeptics any longer.

With the exception of Benny Kauff, not one player has done any jumping either way since the season began. The Feds have not made a single effort to grab a ball player from organized baseball and the established organization has not tried to get back a single one of its jumpers.

The disposition of the Kauff case, coupled with inside facts concerning that affair, shows plainer than anything else that the Feds and organized baseball have ceased fighting each other.

On the surface, the action of the National Commission in returning Kauff to the Feds seems amazing. Even more amazing is the fact that it ordered the suspension for one year of Dick Kinsella, Giant scout, for inducing Kauff to jump. Fandom thought that Kinsella's achievement in capturing the greatest player the enemy had, should have won for him a laurel wreath, an iron cross and a raise in pay. And that's what Kinsella would have received were these still war time days. But they aren't.

Kinsella instead of receiving a reward, was lucky to escape with his life. The reason why Kinsella was penalized is because unconsciously he all caused a renewal of the warfare. The ruling powers in the once time opposing factions agreed some time ago to quit the raiding tactics. And then when Kauff jumped, the Feds thinking they were double-crossed, rushed on to New York ready to open up the battle along new and fiercer lines.

But then it was that the National Commission jumped in and saved the day. It explained that Kinsella, not knowing that a peace truce had been arranged, had gone along and carried out his "Get Kauff" orders that had been given to him before the fact was made. To show that it was sorry for what Kinsella did the comish punished the "culprit."

Not for many lengthy weeks have our ears received any noises like "The Feds are a joke," "They'll blow up in a few weeks," etc. Now will we hear them more.

About six weeks ago Ban Johnson "spilled the beans" in an interview given out in Boston. Later Johnson repudiated the interview. He realized afterward that the time wasn't ripe for breaking the news to the dear old public.

Some weeks ago Garry Herrmann prepared the folks for what is coming by saying that if peace doesn't come soon some of the magnates will be ready to join the ranks of paupers.

The National Commission, it will be remembered, rejected the demands of the Baseball Players Fraternity some weeks ago. They did it with much gusto. They did it as if they didn't fear the fraternity—and they no longer do.

A year or so ago they granted the bulk of the "fraternity's" demands. Why? Simply because they knew that the players would jump to the Feds if they didn't. But this year they rejected them because they know the players couldn't jump to the Feds for the simple reason that the past barred the Feds from taking them.

Many clubs in organized baseball let out to the minors some promising recruits and some real stars simply because they couldn't keep those men on account of the player limit rule. Did the Feds try to grab any of them? No they didn't.

The baseball war is over; the details of peace and consolidation are being arranged now, along about August 1st or 15th the public will be permitted to come in on the "know."
